

The Ruby Yachts EY125HF Project

Ruby Yachts builds Large Oceangoing Passagemakers and Expedition Yachts from 43' to 300'. The purpose of the Ruby Yachts EY125HF Project is to raise funds through the sale of our Ruby Yacht Token (RYT) to build, promote, charter and eventually sell our 125' Expedition Yacht House Forward.

We are inviting everyone from all over the world to participate in this unique opportunity, and that is why we are doing it through the sale of Cryptocurrency Tokens rather than limiting it by accepting only the US Dollar fiat currency – this way it is open to every country no matter what the local medium of exchange happens to be, and without having to deal with international bank transfers, etc.

Therefore, Bitcoin (BTC), Ethereum (ETH), Litecoin (LTC), Stellar (XLM), Bitcoin Cash (BCH), Tether (USDT) and USD Coin (USDC) are welcome.

What does EY125HF stand for?

EY125HF is the abbreviated model name for the Ruby Yachts Expedition Yacht 125 House Forward, pictured above.

EY = Expedition Yacht

125 = the vessel's length of 125'

HF = House Forward

Expedition Yacht indicates this vessel is designed to offer totally self-sufficient cruising literally anywhere in the world in safety, comfort and style.

House Forward signifies the placement of the yacht's main control station, called the Pilothouse or Wheelhouse, at the forward portion of the vessel instead of farther back (House Aft).

Ruby Yachts, the history

Ruby Yachts began in Miami Beach, Florida as a division of RST Unlimited, Inc. in late 2000 while its founder and president (Russ Thomas of Daytona Beach) was involved in Yacht Brokerage at South Beach Yacht Sales located at the Miami Beach Marina. Russ' interest was in passagemakers/tractors capable of long distance ocean cruising. Shortly after its inception, Ruby Yachts began promoting steel vessels in the United States from world-renown designer Bruce Roberts. Bruce has a reputation for designing boats primarily for the do-it-yourself market whereby someone can purchase his construction plans themselves and set out to build their own boat at their own pace, or contract a boatbuilder to build it for them. Russ didn't want to just sell boats, he wanted to build these boats to order, along with others that were custom designed.

Around the spring of 2004 a joint ventured was formed with Cuban-American Jesus Perez from Miami-based Defender Yacht Group. Jesus had already been in business for some 25-30 years prior specializing in custom built fiberglass boats (of all types), most from his own designs. For fiberglass projects, Defender Yachts would be the builder, even of Ruby Yachts designs.

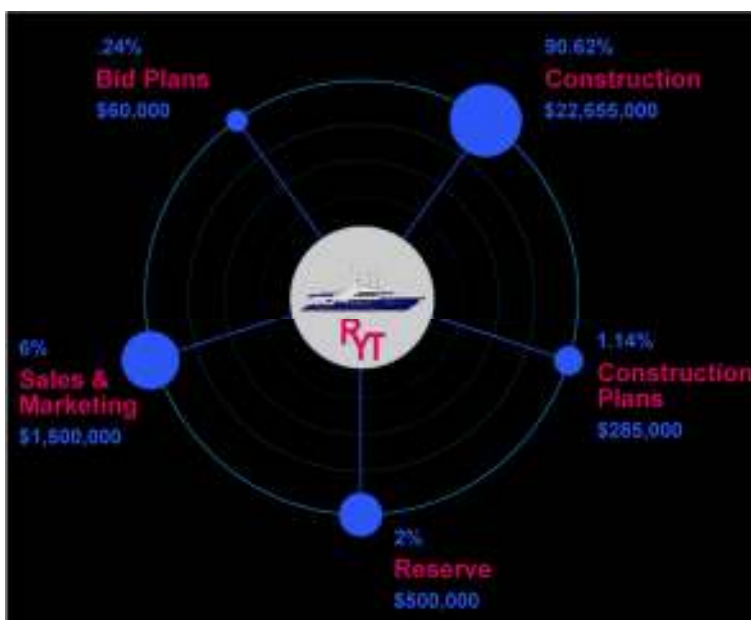

Sometime during the summer of 2015 it was decided to discontinue the promotion of fiberglass boats and concentrate only on those of steel and aluminum that are capable of literally crossing the ocean. Of the 32 Passagemakers and Expedition Yachts that are currently featured on the Ruby Yachts website (<http://rubyyachts.com>) 12 are considered "Ruby Yachts Exclusives" from 50' – 300' -- meaning they are designed inhouse in collaboration with designated naval architects.

The design for the awesome Ruby Yachts Expedition Yacht 125 House Forward was developed in September of that year. She is literally the largest boat to sail off our drawing board, and depicts the epitome of what Ruby Yachts can do. With the Master Stateroom on the Main Deck and four Guest Staterooms below there is plenty of room to sleep 10 people, not to mention room to roam around during the beautiful days at sea.

The Ruby Yachts EY125HF Project, the concept.

The 125' Expedition Yacht, depicted by the cryptocurrency token Ruby Yacht Token (RYT), is based on an original Ruby Yachts design that will be enhanced and detailed by DeJong and Lebet, Inc. Naval Architects and Marine Engineers from Jacksonville, Florida (<http://dejongandlebet.com>). DeJong and Lebet has been serving the Marine Industry since 1983, having been involved in the design and conversion of all types of vessels up to 400'.

The Ruby Yachts Expedition Yacht 125 House Forward is slated to be the ultimate world cruising vessel of the Ruby Yachts fleet. Our target is $25,000,000 US for the development of detailed construction plans, the actual construction itself, and the promotion and marketing of the finished yacht to the Superyacht charter world, with Ruby Yachts acting as its sole Agent and Management Company. Along the way, if someone wants to buy the yacht outright Ruby Yachts will act as the Seller's Broker and endeavor to strike a bargain with the potential Buyer.
